

Training

DESCRIPTION

JFD Cowan provides a comprehensive training package, incorporating leading training skills and extensive product experience.

With significant instructor experience and as a current Royal Australian Navy training provider, JFD Cowan is a training specialist in recompression chamber systems.

A full training package including course ware for training in operations and maintenance of chamber systems is offered. Training courses involving up to ten individuals can be held at one time, conducted over five to seven days by a permanent JFD Cowan instructor. This will suitably equip the client with the relevant maintenance and operations skills.

On successful completion of the course, participants are certified as competent persons to carry out either operations and/or maintenance tasks.
